How to Teach This Book

Reading Wise is a reading series for high beginner and intermediate learners. The book consists of twenty units, each containing ten activities based on the main story of the unit. In particular, each unit includes a short story, a picture-based summary activity, a dialog based on the story for listening and speaking practice, and expansion activities. Expansion activities encourage students' creative use of language by allowing them to express their own opinions and ideas.

Pre-Reading (5 min.)

The teacher should write the title of the unit on the board. Students should find a partner and look at the picture. Single partners are suggested for this activity so that students can help each other communicate without being nervous in front of the entire class.

Next, the teacher should go over the questions to make sure the students understand them. Pairs should then ask each other the questions and answer them. Students need NOT come to any consensus on the answers as the questions are designed to activate the students' background knowledge related to the topic. If time allows, have some of the pairs share answers to specific questions. Record useful related vocabulary on the board and discuss how the vocabulary may be related to the reading.

Vocabulary Preview (10 min.)

In this activity, simple sentences give context to key vocabulary that can be found in the story. It is important that students fully understand each vocabulary word or phrase. This section will give them synonyms to use, which will increase the depth of their language use.

Have students work individually to complete the exercise. They will match the underlined word to its meaning. When they are finished, have students check their answers with their partner. Review the answers as a class. While going through the list of words, ask the class to generate synonyms or antonyms that come to mind for each word. Having the class generate new example sentences using the words will also reinforce the learning of new vocabulary items for students.

Reading Passage (5 min.)

Students should read the passages silently for a few minutes. Ask students to underline any words they do not understand while they are reading. If there are, explain what the words mean.

Next, have students complete the "Understanding the Key Ideas" section. They should check their answers with a partner. If they do not agree, refer students to the reading passage again. They can circle the part that indicates the correct answer. This section is meant to be a general review of the story.

Reading Comprehension (5 min.)

This section gives teachers an opportunity to see if their students fully understand the passage. If they do not understand specific sections of the reading, the teacher should review difficult portions of the text. Again, students should work alone to complete the questions and then work with a partner to check their answers.

Students should refer to specific places in the story to explain how they reached their answers if these words are too close together. Pointing this out to students makes them responsible for their own understanding and also helps them learn to skim material for information, which is an important skill in reading. It would also be helpful for students to draw a box around portions of the text that show the answers.

Language Focus (5 min.)

This section consists of various activities that practice grammatical structure. The main purpose of this book is not to teach grammar, though it is important to point out key grammatical aspects while focusing on reading comprehension. Each unit has a different grammar point that the "Language Focus" section covers, and teachers are encouraged to think of ways to make grammar points relevant and interesting. For example, if the section is about adjectives, the teacher can have students brainstorm about different adjectives, creating word bubbles around each word, and linking them to other synonyms.

Picture Story (5 min.)

Each unit has a picture-story activity that allows students to retell the story in their own words with a bit of guidance. It would be best to have the students work with a partner to encourage them to talk about the story.

First, have students put the story in order, based on the pictures. Students may need to refer to the story to complete the exercise.

Next, have students use the words under each picture to create a full sentence. The words will give them a clue and also provide guidance for actually writing the sentences that explain the story. While answers may vary slightly, the activity is structured so that students will have a lot of support in writing their sentences. As time allows, have volunteers write their sentences on the board to check.

Act Out the Story (5 min.)

Have students read the dialog related to the story. Students can make guesses as to the correct word to fill in each blank. Share the correct answers with the class.

For pronunciation practice, read the dialog aloud. Stop after each phrase of sentence and have students repeat what they heard. A fun variation is to have all the boys repeat the male parts and all the girls repeat the female parts, or split the class in half and have one side repeat one character and the other side repeat the second character. After this practice, students can work in pairs or small groups to recite the dialog together.

If there is time, choose 2-4 pairs to preform the dialog. Seeing the story in live motion will make it more dynamic for students to connect the reading to actual events. The more dynamic the acting, the more likely students will be to remember key elements of the story.

Summary (5 min.)

By the time students arrive at the summary section, they have already reviewed the story in three different ways: Reading Comprehension, Picture Story, and Act Out the Story. The Summary activity reinforces acquisition of the unit's target vocabulary.

Students should complete the summary section on their own. After they complete the section, the teacher can choose students to read the sentences for the rest of the class, which allows them the opportunity to listen to the summary again, while also checking their answers.

Expansion Questions (5 min.)

This section is meant to provide students with an opportunity to expand on the lesson in a creative way. These exercises should be completed in small groups to encourage conversation. The teacher should place students into groups of 3-5. For most questions, the answers may vary among students. Therefore, it would be best for teachers to monitor their students' conversations.

Expansion Questions may ask students to share experiences, knowledge, or opinions related in some way to the unit theme. Once everyone has expressed their opinion, the group can choose one person to summarize their discussion for the entire class.

Supplemental Vocabulary Study

Another component that could help students acquire new vocabulary items would be to create a vocabulary log that students are responsible for and must keep throughout the entire course. Once the teacher reviews the words, students can keep a separate sheet with all of the vocabulary words listed on the left side. Next, students would write the definition of the word. The teacher and students could then create an entirely new sentence, using the word in context. The process of writing and creating a new contextual sentence that has meaning for the student may make the word and definition easier to remember.

Vocabulary word	Definition
Part of speech	New sentence in context
(Example)
Feathers	Light, hair-like structures
noun	Peacocks have beautiful and colorful feathers.
